UNDER THE HORSE'S FEET.

Baby Simpson Run Over by a Reckless Driver. A horse attached to a dayton and driver by an unknown man knocked down and burt three-year-old Joseph R. Simpson, son of Mrs. Catherine Simpson, of No. 1214 Nineteenth street northwest, about 5:45 o'clock last evening on Nineteenth street, between M and N streets northwest.

The child was crossing the street when the borse came dashing along. Several persons, including his mother, saw the child beneath the feet of the animal, and trodden done, the reckless driver whipped up his borse and disappeared around the corner of N street. The boy was picked up and borne to his home, where it was found that he was not seriously injured, although he had sus-tained severe cuts and bruises of the head

The police have no clew to the driver of the dayton, but are putting forth every effort to apprehend him.

Would Not Wed a Smoker. The discovery of a cigar in a bridegroom's pocket has caused the indefinite postpone ment of a marriage ceremony which was about to be solemnized at Oceonta, this State. When Frank Parks sought the hand of Miss Jennie Titus in marriage several months ago the young lady consented on con dition that Parks, who was an inveterate smoker, should from that date discard the use of tobacco in every form. It was a dif ficult matter for the ardent wooer to take such a pledge, but rather than have his sul-denied he destroyed his stock of smoking utensils in the presence of his affianced and promised the young lady that he would be a total abstalaer in the future. The young the marriage ceremony performed, and a Parks assisted Miss Titus from the carriage he suddenly spied a cient in his pocket. "What does this mean, Frank?" exclaime the bride, snatching the cigar and burling it away, her face flushed with anger.

"I-I-I will tell you all about it later," stammered the perplexed bridegroom. "I friend gave it to me and I——"

"No further explanation is necessary," in errupted the bride. "Drive me home at once, and then you go your way. You have broken your pledge and I have fortunately discovered it in time."

The disappointed pair retraced their jour-ney, while Parks begged to be fergiven and restored again to favor, but to no effect, and Miss Titus returned to her home and Parks left for parts unknown.-New York Herald

JEWISH NEW YEAR.

Solemn Services Begun Yesterday in the Symagogues.

The beautiful and solenin services incident to the observance of the Jewish New Year were begun yesterday at sunset in the Eighth street synagogue.

The scason intended to be commemorated is as old as history itself, and has been religiously kept as holy for about 4,000 years.

The temple was crowded with devout worshippers, and the services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Louis Stern, the pastor of the church. Unlike those of the orthodox church, the services at this synagogue were in Hebrew and English and were marked by an especially elaborate programme of music.

programme of music.

The exercises consisted of the recitation of certain pasinis, particularly the grand Ninetieth Psalm, prayer by the pastor, and the music by a cheir of sixteen pastor, and the music by a chair of sixteen voices.

There was no sermon, the pastor offering up a special prayer, based on the features and objects of the feats.

To day the services will begin at 9 a. m., and close at 11 p. m. A sermon will be preached this morning by Dr. Stern at 10:30 o'clock, on the text taken from the ritual: "Remember us into Life, O King, who delights in life, and inscribe us into the Book of Life."

The principal singers in the choir are Miss Mae B. Whitesell, soprano; Mrs. Martin-Noland, alto; Mr. W. B. Macfarland, tenor, Mr. John Noland, basso. The organist, Dr. George W. Waiter.

The services of the orthodox church on Sixth and G streets, which are now also a progress, are conducted by Mr. Samuels, and differ from those of the Reformed Church on Eighth stacet only in the fact that in the former thelanguage used is only Hebrew.

Married by Proxy.

A queer Arabian Night's tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpore. The bridegroom was hald and blind of one eye: and the father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weavers advised them to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

Germany Making Cast Iron Bricks. An account of glass bricks has come to us from France, and now word of cast-iron bricks comes from Germany. It is said that they are being used for the walls of several public buildings. They are bollow, fitting into each other by projecting ribs in one and corresponding grooves in another. They are lighter than brick of clay and require neither mortar nor skilled labor in their erection.

A Marvelous Pond.

There is a pord in Ottawa, Kas., that is a mystery in that, not withstanding the protracted dry weather of last scason, it is now well supplied with sun perch and mod catfish. It is claimed that no fish have been planted there, and it is a matter of conjecture where the present supply came from. It is not at all unlikely that before the pond went dry last season it contained fish and that they had deposited their spawn, which remained fertile until the pond was again filled with water, when the fish which now inhabit it were hatched. Both the mud cat and the sun perch are rapid growers, which fact would account for their being of medium size
